ANTIMICROBIAL TEXTILE TECHNOLOGY

We've been working with a company called HeiQ, on a product development project for a range of special edition workwear. HeiQ has recently launched HeiQ Viroblock, an advanced textile technology that makes fabrics resistant to microbes, germs and bacteria.

With the aim of providing an enhanced hygienic range of workwear, we have adopted HeiQ Viroblock for these special edition products, so they are protected against contamination by microbes, germs and bacteria, with a biocide of Silver Chloride.

WHAT IS HEIQ VIROBLOCK?

- An innovative, patent-applied Swiss textile technology that is applied to the fabric during the final stages of production.
- An advanced silver and vesicle technology that inhibits growth and persistence of microorganisms on the fabric surface
- Hypoallergenic, providing a self-sanitizing and germ resistant surface
- Certified as safe and sustainable as all ingredients are bio-based and recycled
- Non-toxic and does not irritate the skin
- EU REACH and OEKOTEX® Certified
